GOV. EASLEY REAPPOINTS COX TO RURAL ELECTRIFICATION AUTHORITY

RALEIGH – Gov. Mike Easley has reappointed Edith C. Cox of Cameron to the North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority.

Cox is a retired guidance counselor for Harnett County Schools in Lillington. She is a member of the Central Electric Membership Corporation Board, the North Carolina Association of Electric Cooperatives and the Harnett County Jury Commission. Cox received a Bachelor's degree in English and history from N.C. A&T University.

The board works to secure electrical and telephone services for the rural areas of the state. The board has five members, each serving a four-year term. The governor appoints all members.
